

The German Historical Institute in Moscow,
a research institute of the Max Weber Foundation
– German research institutes in humanities abroad

is looking for a Research Assistant (female / male) (a temporary position, 65% of the regular working time)
for June 1, 2022

for the German-Russian research project ‘Languages of Eighteenth-century Russian Diplomacy in the European Context’ to work on the sub-project ‘Language and Sociability in the Diplomacy of Holstein in the Eighteenth Century: Relations of the House of Gottorp with Russia and Other Countries of Northern Europe’.

The main activities of the GHI Moscow are the study of the common history of Germany and Russia in the European context, the intensification of cooperation between Russian and German scholars, the coordination and implementation of joint research and editing projects, and the promotion of young scholars.

The DFG-funded project of the GHI Moscow examines the development of linguistic practices in European diplomacy during the ‘long’ eighteenth century and, in particular, the rise of French as the universal language of diplomacy.

The aim of the subproject ‘Language and Sociability in the Diplomacy of Holstein in the Eighteenth Century: Relations of the House of Gottorp with Russia and Other Countries of Northern Europe’ is to examine diplomatic relations between the duchy and Russia from the point of view of language use and in a broad European context, using archives in Schleswig-Holstein in particular.

The project is based at the GHI Moscow and will be carried out in cooperation with the Christian-Albrechts-Universität in Kiel. The place of employment is Kiel with regular stays in Moscow to be arranged individually. The opportunity for doctoral studies is offered.

Your profile:

- Completed studies (M.A.) in history with above-average grades;
- Interest in diplomatic history or in the history of Germany or Russia in the early modern period or in historical sociolinguistics;
- Good reading knowledge of German, French, and Russian; Latin desirable.

Provided that the relevant requirements are met, we offer the corresponding remuneration (TVöD Bund pay group 13). The appointment is limited to 3 years. The regular working time is 65%.

Applicants with severe disabilities are entitled to preferential consideration in case of equal suitability over other applicants.

The Max Weber Foundation strives to increase the proportion of women among scientific personnel and therefore strongly encourages qualified women to apply. In accordance with the Federal Equal Opportunity Act, women will be given priority consideration if their qualifications are equal.

Please send your application documents (letter of motivation, curriculum vitae, copies of certificates) exclusively by e-mail (complete and in one PDF file) by Monday, February 07, 2022 at the latest, with the subject DFG/DHIM wiss. MA to:
